

Hungry for Justice

Hungry for Justice

Fast Food Rights Forum Wed 13 January: 6.30pm

Room 8, House of Commons, Parliament
Westminster, London, SW1A 0AA,
(Westminster tube station)

SPEAKERS:

John McDonnell Shadow Chancellor;
Ian Hodson BFAWU bakers' union president; Kevin Rowan TUC;
& fast food workers from the US and UK

Fast Food Rights Forum Wed 13 January: 6.30pm

Room 8, House of Commons, Parliament
Westminster, London, SW1A 0AA,
(Westminster tube station)

SPEAKERS:

John McDonnell Shadow Chancellor;
Ian Hodson BFAWU bakers' union president; Kevin Rowan TUC;
& fast food workers from the US and UK

... After a protest at McDonald's
on Whitehall: Assemble 5pm

... After a protest at McDonald's
on Whitehall: Assemble 5pm

We're fighting for:
£10 an hour now
& Union rights
End zero hours
contracts

We're fighting for:
£10 an hour now
& Union rights
End zero hours
contracts

Join the union Join a global movement

#HungryForJustice #FastFoodGlobal fastfoodrights.wordpress.com

Join the union Join a global movement

#HungryForJustice #FastFoodGlobal fastfoodrights.wordpress.com

• £10 an hour & Union rights

Fed up of low pay?

Join the union

Name:.....

.....

Address:.....

.....

.....

Phone:.....

Email:.....

.....

Workplace:.....

.....

Occupation:.....

.....

Date:.....

Please return to:
BFAWU, FREEPOST BBT 202,
Welwyn Garden City, Herts, AL8 7BR

From the USA to here in Britain, fast food workers are organising and fighting back!

On Wednesday 13 January, American fast food workers, who have led strikes of tens of thousands of low waged workers in America, are coming to London to join forces with a delegation of fast food workers from across Britain.

Both here and in America, fast food workers are forced to live in poverty by multi-national and hugely profitable companies like McDonald's. While McDonald's has raked in profit at the expense of their workers, they have been exposed as not paying their tax.

Fast Food Rights is hosting a forum on 13 January at parliament in London. The forum will see US fast food workers, and UK fast food workers who have joined the BFAWU bakers' union to fight for union rights and £10 an hour, sharing experiences on a panel discussion. They will be joined by Shadow Chancellor John McDonnell.

The forum is part of a global campaign. It comes as unions and allies gather in Brussels to press their case at the European Union that McDonalds must reform its practices, for workers and society as a whole.

McDonald's is in the dock!
Come along and join fast food workers in the fight for higher wages, union rights and respect at work.

fastfoodrights.wordpress.com
fastfoodrights@mail.com

07739 326 010

• £10 an hour & Union rights

Fed up of low pay?

Join the union

Name:.....

.....

Address:.....

.....

.....

Phone:.....

Email:.....

.....

Workplace:.....

.....

Occupation:.....

.....

Date:.....

Please return to:
BFAWU, FREEPOST BBT 202,
Welwyn Garden City, Herts, AL8 7BR

From the USA to here in Britain, fast food workers are organising and fighting back!

On Wednesday 13 January, American fast food workers, who have led strikes of tens of thousands of low waged workers in America, are coming to London to join forces with a delegation of fast food workers from across Britain.

Both here and in America, fast food workers are forced to live in poverty by multi-national and hugely profitable companies like McDonald's. While McDonald's has raked in profit at the expense of their workers, they have been exposed as not paying their tax.

Fast Food Rights is hosting a forum on 13 January at parliament in London. The forum will see US fast food workers, and UK fast food workers who have joined the BFAWU bakers' union to fight for union rights and £10 an hour, sharing experiences on a panel discussion. They will be joined by Shadow Chancellor John McDonnell.

The forum is part of a global campaign. It comes as unions and allies gather in Brussels to press their case at the European Union that McDonalds must reform its practices, for workers and society as a whole.

McDonald's is in the dock!
Come along and join fast food workers in the fight for higher wages, union rights and respect at work.

fastfoodrights.wordpress.com
fastfoodrights@mail.com

07739 326 010